

Robert F. Clyde Announces Candidacy for State Senate

20 Apr 1972 Park City Record
Robert F. Clyde, Republican State Senator from this, the new Twenty-sixth District, filed Monday for re-election.

Under the new reapportionment set-up, the popular Heber City cattle and sheep rancher will represent Morgan, Summit, Wasatch, Duchesne, Uintah and Daggett counties. The old Twenty-second District, just now being abandoned, included Rich but not Uintah and Daggett. There are about 36,000 persons in the district.

"The Supreme Court decisions on reapportionment have left us in rural Utah with only token representation," said Senator Clyde. "It is my hope that my experience in the House and Senate, combined with a desire to do as much as possible for my rural constituents, may provide true representation. Certainly I will make every effort to balance the new over-weight apportionment."

Senator Clyde served three terms in the Utah House of Representatives, starting in 1960. He came into the Senate in 1966, and has established himself as a smart and sturdy proponent of his constituents.

He was minor whip of the House in 1964; assistant floor leader of the Senate in 1966; and is now chairman of the important Senate standing committee on state offices and a member of the State Constitutional Revision committee.

He and the lovely Mrs. Clyde have seven children, and are active in all civic and church affairs of Wasatch County.
